

2004

Nancy (Byers) Eaton-Stedman

Class of 1954

Nancy Eaton-Stedman had an extensive career in theater. She performed on Broadway with Angela Lansbury in "Sweeney Todd" and worked with composers Richard Rogers and Stephen Sondheim in several productions.

Eaton-Stedman also taught voice and piano to hundreds of students. In her retirement, she works closely with the Charleston (S.C.) Symphony and serves as musical director for the Charleston School District.

Additional study: Juilliard; The New School

